

Organic Sundays at Milagro Allegro Community Garden

Eating locally and organically is important, and in Los Angeles we are fortunate to be able to grow delicious, nutritious and organic fresh food year-round.

We invite you and your family to take part in "Organic Sundays" - an incredible and stimulating series of organic edible garden workshops every third Sunday of the month held at Milagro Allegro Community Garden in Highland Park.

With Fall fast approaching, this month's class will focus on planning for your Fall edible garden! Master Gardener Milli Macen-Moore, will teach you how to rejuvenate your soil organically and plan your fall raised beds - all while getting DIRTY! (Please remember to bring your gloves!) Milli will also be available one hour before class to answer your gardening questions.

What: Planning Your Fall Organic Edible Garden

When: Sunday, August 22, 2010

Time: 4pm-5pm

Where: Milagro Allegro Community Garden

115 S. Avenue 56, LA 90042

1 block SE of Figueroa, behind the Highland Theater www.hpgarden.org

Suggested donation $10, no one turned away for funds